KENTUCKY WAR REOPENING.

CAUSED BY AN ATTEMPT TO ARREST OFFICERS.

Democrats Begin Their Efforts to Run Down Col. McQuinn and Bag Several Men.

Frankfort, March 10.—A situation has reached a point of excitement today almost approaching that of the stirring times immediately following the assassination of Goebel. The reinstatement of the military power in complete control of the state executive building and the refusal of the military authorities to allow the local police and civil officers to enter the building for the purpose of arresting Secretary of State Caleb Powers and Captain John W. Davis, charged with being accessories to the Goebel assassination, and the probability of a conflict between the civil and military authorities, has made the situation look serious. This morning, City Marshal Richardson applied at the executive building and demanded to be admitted for the purpose of arresting Powers and Davis, but was turned back and the warrants were then turned over to Sheriff Suter. The latter also presented himself at the executive building and demanded admittance. He was referred by the officer in charge to Colonel Morrow, and the latter said: "I am sorry, Mr. Sheriff, but it is against Governor Taylor's orders to let any one into the building today."

Sheriff Suter then held a consultation with County Attorney Polgore, Commonwealth attorney, Franklin, and other officials. Meantime the police force had been doubled, and a detail guarded each of the entrances to the State house grounds, to prevent the men wanted from escaping. At the conference between the officials, it was decided that the sheriff should summon a large reserve force of deputies, to be called into use in the event it was decided to attempt to enter the building by force to make the arrests, and in pursuance of this, the sheriff swore in 50 men who were stationed in the neighborhood of the sheriff's office during the afternoon. Sheriff Suter made another attempt to get an audience with Governor Taylor this afternoon, but was unsuccessful.

Lexington, Ky., March 10.—Almost without warning the storm-center of excitement in the present gubernatorial struggle shifted to Lexington tonight, and up to a late hour the town was in an uproar. The 8:40 Chesapeake & Ohio train from Frankfort brought with it in one car to themselves Secretary of State Caleb Powers, Captain John Davis, capitol square policeman, and Lieutenant F. R. Peake, of Covington. Intelligence had preceded them that they were a tragedy. The sheriff commanded the conductor to cut off the car. The conductor remonstrated, stating that the train carried United States mail and the demand was then not pressed.

A local attorney recognized Powers and pointed out Davis. They were seized and hurried to jail. As the procession swept toward the jail some people started the report that there was to be a lynching and soon the streets were packed with people, an enormous crowd gathering about the jail. Davis, Powers and Peake were hurried to the upper cells, but Peake was later released on bond on a common warrant on the charge of resisting arrest.

Powers and Davis Vanish. Lexington, Ky., March 12.—Secretary of State Powers and Capt. Davis were secretly taken from the jail here between midnight and day and in charge of Sheriff Suter of Frankfort were driven overland to Versailles, where it is reported they were placed on a train and taken to Louisville. Nobody will talk. The event causes much excitement.

Stockholders Meeting. There will be an annual meeting of the stockholders of the Guilford Battle Ground company, Thursday April 15th, 1900.

This meeting will be held in the bank office of the Greensboro National bank at 4 o'clock p. m., promptly. It is earnestly desired that every stockholder, especially in the city, be present and participate. We had no celebration in 1899 as we gave way to the "gala week" and we hope that the citizens will be liberal to the company this year. Shall we have a celebration this year? This will be the question.

BISHOP GALLOWAY, OF MISSISSIPPI, WHO SPEAKS TONIGHT AT WEST MARKET STREET CHURCH, IN THE INTEREST OF THE TWENTIETH CENTURY MOVEMENT.

The committee from West Market Street Church, who went up to Winston to escort Bishop Galloway to this city returned at noon today accompanied by the distinguished speaker, who will deliver an address on the Twentieth Century Movement tonight. The meaning and object of this movement was briefly outlined in these columns Saturday afternoon. For a full and comprehensive understanding of what it is you are invited to hear Bishop Galloway at West Market Street Church tonight.

While here as the guest of all Methodists, Bishop Galloway is being entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Odell, on East Washington street.

A COLUMBIAN SUNDAY. A Short Review of Some of the Services Yesterday.

Dr. Rowe's sermon yesterday morning was one of unusual power. His text was the sixth verse of the first chapter of Luke: "And they were both righteously before God and walking in all the commandments and ordinances of the Lord blameless." He touched briefly upon the commandments, and showed plainly that it is possible to keep each one, and that there is nothing to compel anyone to break them; that the Lord did not require impossibilities. He commended the entire attention of the large congregation from beginning to close. His sermon embraced all classes and all ages from the gray-haired parents to toddling children, his talk to the children being especially appropriate. He said in part: "You should honor your parents from your earliest childhood throughout your entire life. Your father, who went down into the jaws of death that you might have life, should be honored by you whether he be rich or poor, high or low, honorable or dishonorable."

Dr. Rowe is a deep scholar and a consecrated minister and never fails to impress his hearers. "Make a joyful noise unto the Lord" was sung as a voluntary, the offertory being "Guide me, O Thou Great Jehovah." This was rendered by Mrs. Merrimon and Mr. Ireland, with chorus by the choir. In the evening a male quartette, consisting of Messrs. Crawford, Alderman, Wheeler and Scott, sang "Let Him In."

At the First Presbyterian church, morning services, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Menefee were admitted by letter from the First Presbyterian church of New Rochelle, New York, and it was announced that the session had met at the residence of Dr. R. K. Gregory, and that he had been admitted to the church by profession of faith. There was no sermon, but in its stead a congregational meeting for the purpose of electing two additional ruling elders. Messrs. R. G. Lea and W. C. McLean were elected.

It was announced that the organ recital by Prof. Craighill, of Charlotte, postponed some weeks ago, would be given in the church Thursday evening next. A prominent feature of the occasion will be vocal music by Greensboro talent, under the direction of Prof. Parker. A collection will be taken up for the organ fund.

Last night Dr. Smith preached on the "Isolation of Christ." It was the strongest sermon he has preached in the series on Jesus' creed. The night service was completed by a song very effectively rendered by Mr. V. Taylor, accompanied by the wonderful melody which Prof. Parker draws from that grandest of all musical instruments, the pipe organ.

At Centenary church morning service, the pastor, Rev. T. E. Wagg, preached a characteristic sermon from the 6th verse of the 4th chapter of 2nd Corinthians. "For God, who commanded the light to shine out of darkness, hath shined in our hearts, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ." The sermon showed deep thought and excellent preparation, a feature which characterizes all of Mr. Wagg's pulpit utterances.

At night his sermon was from the same chapter and 7th verse: "But we have this treasure in earthen vessels, that the excellency of the power may be of God and not of us." It was a good sermon and edifying service.

At West Washington Street Baptist Church the pastor preached in the morning upon the "Picture of the South." He cited some statements from Mr. Edmonds, editor of the Manufacturer's Record, predicting that the south, in the near future, will be the wealthiest producing section of the country, because it will be the great manufacturing center. There is a capital of six billion dollars invested in the United States, where the annual production is ten billion dollars, or three times the total value of all agricultural products of the whole country.

Of this vast industry the south has now less than one-tenth. When we recall the material prosperity of the south when it becomes the manufacturing center of the country, as it surely will! Now, will all this be a blessing? Does this mean prosperity in its highest sense? That depends. If we meet the side of immigration that will soon flow in upon us with the gospel and crystallize it around the cross of Christ; if the future of the south wealth of the south, like gold and frankincense and myrrh of the wise men will be laid at the feet of the Redeemer, the brightness of the future is beyond conception.

At the conclusion of the sermon a good collection was taken up for home missions.

TRAMPLED DOWN THE CHILDREN. AND MORE THAN A DOZEN ARE BURNED TO A CRISP.

In a fire at Newark this morning the Men and Women Escape But the Poor Children are Roasted.

Newark, N. J., March 12.—Fire started this morning in an old Italian church at Roselleville converted into a two-story frame tenement and sheltering thirty families. It took but a moment for the flames to envelop the entire structure effectually cutting off escape of the panic-stricken inmates. Nearly half of the one hundred and twenty inmates were children and they were forsaken in the wild rush of men and women and dumped on the second story and roof. Firemen were unable to use ladders in the rescue owing to the furnace-like character of the flames.

Fifteen bodies were taken out and twenty-five more are missing. Nearly all the dead are children. Of the missing fifteen are children and nine women.

No men lost their lives, but fought their way through the crowd of women and children. The supposed incendiary was arrested.

IS THE DREADFUL STORY ENDED?

DOE THE BURIAL OF THE POOR GIRL CLOSE THE "INCIDENT."

The Reading of the Letter of Miss Little, Whose Self-Destruction Was Told Friday.

Last Friday the Telegram published the sad story of the self-destruction of Miss Mollie Little, of Mecklenburg county, driven to despair and suicide by the desertion of the man she loved. It will be recalled that she left a letter to be read at her funeral. Of the funeral Saturday, and the letter, we find the following in the Observer:

The unfortunate young woman was 25 years old. She was tall, slender, dark-haired and dark-eyed. In disposition she was quiet and reserved.

Living with her parents and being the younger child, she was the favorite with both, and her careless affection and care made her life and living mean much. To speak in human phrase, she did for them, tended them and their own children, humble home they miss her—miss her for the remembrance of her loveliness to them and to little things. In the house she alone could read. Yes day her father stopped the subscription to his only newspaper. "What's the use of taking it?" he said. "My daughter is dead and we can't read."

The circumstances occurring just prior to Miss Little's death were given in detail yesterday by her people. Because of her death they plainly suffer the anguish that usually commands silence—the silence of bereavement; but their lips are opened by the primitive impulse that is less and yet more than revenge. They want to tell the world that they were not Charles Jordan, who wrecked the happiness and caused the death of their daughter, to suffer remorse, and they desire to publish his faithlessness to the world. They have no thought of personal violence, but they take to account his wedding within the hour that their child died for the sheer love of him and they would ruin his bridal home's happiness by the recollection of a dead face.

Miss Little's father said that Jordan had paid constant attention to his daughter for a year and more. She had believed Jordan and said she was engaged to him.

Within the last two months it came to the young woman that Jordan intended to marry Miss Laura Wallace, who lived in the Oak Orchard neighborhood. She disclosed the ruin at the time. The report gained strength and finally when Jordan called on Miss Little on Saturday night, three weeks ago, she spoke to him on the subject. In all earnestness he swore that the tale was a lie and again he professed constancy to the woman that he had already betrayed. The woman believed in him to the utmost.

Within two weeks from that night Charles Jordan sent Miss Little a verbal invitation to his wedding to Miss Wallace. Though lesser, may be, than the mark of Cain, this refinement of brutality marked him as the kind that kill—with the instinct of cruelty. Then it was that Miss Little resolved to die. Her people knew that she suffered, but she said nothing of suffering. She was cheerful to the last, though she spoke few words. She was quiet—with despair.

No one of her people suspected that her continued employment was writing farewell letters. She said nothing that showed her sorrow or her determination. One thing, however, her mother now remembers as indicating her daughter's sombre purpose. Since she was a child Miss Little had always said that when she died she wanted to be near her sister, to whom she was devoted. By her repetition of the saying this wish seemed to have grown strong with her life. On Wednesday afternoon she told her mother that she intended spending the night with Mrs. Osborne, her sister. When she arrived at her sister's house, in the early evening, her first act was to conceal in an antechamber the bottle of poison that she carried, but when she came into the room to see her sister her mood was bright and pleasant. At once she gained access to her sleeping with her sister, both of whom retired early.

After 12 o'clock on Thursday morning Mrs. Osborne was waked by her sister's leaving the bed and going out of the room. She drank the laudanum. Upon her return she became nauseated. After this she again went to the outdoors, and it was on this second visit, Mrs. Osborne thinks, that Miss Little took the poison that resulted in her death.

It was not until the early morning that it was found that Miss Little was unconscious. Never after this did she show any sign of consciousness except once, just before she died, when she raised her hands and wiped from her face the cold water that was being used for her resuscitation. So death came.

The funeral services were held last Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Hickory Grove church, of which Miss Little had been a member. There were present her father and sister and other relatives. The mother of the girl was absent. When she was told of her daughter's death she fainted, and her grief was too great for her to look upon the face of her dead child. In addition to the relatives a large and sympathetic crowd filled the little church to overflowing.

Obeying the tragic wish of the unfortunate girl, her father said that her last letter must be read aloud in the church.

It was the old story with its infinite pathos and wretchedness. The letter was blurred in writing and incoherent in phrase, but its meaning in its relation of love and misery was clear—no clear. Jordan had made her love him, Jordan had promised to marry her, and now Jordan was going to marry another woman. She could not stand it, said the poor, suffering soul; she wanted to die.

Apart from brief loving remembrance of her people the letter was only about Jordan to Jordan. She asked that he be present at the funeral and bear the letter read—that he might know how she suffered, how he had caused her death. But Jordan was at home with his bride.

The last word of the dead girl was soon read. Those that heard bowed their heads and wept. In an indescribable way they appreciated the exposure of intense sadness and vain longing and lost hope. They had listened to the fitting end of the tragedy.

PEACE ON WHAT TERMS?
Last Tuesday the British government received messages from both President Kruger and President Steyn asking upon what terms a cessation of hostilities could be brought about. On Wednesday the cabinet convened to discuss the messages and it is believed that an uncompromising answer was returned. A semi-official statement, as follows, was issued Saturday night:
"It is understood that the time has yet come for any authoritative statement as to ultimate terms of peace, and no member of the cabinet has authorized any published statement on the subject. It is, of course, generally understood among all political parties in this country that so far as the South African Republics are concerned the status quo ante bellum cannot remain unaltered after the close of hostilities. Their part in the system, which involved a large measure of political and military independence, will of course be materially modified as a result of the war, but the prospects of restored peace must be further advanced before Her Majesty's government can either finally formulate proposed terms of settlement, or make any announcement of their plan."
In other words, there is little need of diplomacy in the arrangement of peace terms. Great Britain will doubtless, and ought to, insist upon complete, unconditional surrender. She is largely to blame for not having settled the matter before. It is to be English rule or not in South Africa, and while England need not be generous in the treatment of her conquered foes, she ought now and forever settle this bloody, running quarrel. And we have no doubt that she will hence the remark that there is little need of diplomacy. Uncle Paul will just have to lay down, and then take what he can get.

If our Washington correspondent correctly reports the matter, the democratic members at the capital are certainly a little previous in their talk of retaliation on the republicans for the unseating of democratic members by the present house. He says the scheme is to have democratic nominees in close republican districts to put up with the fight as possible next fall, and then, when congress meets, let all these contest and take the seats of the republican members. This is certainly cheeky for this time of the year.

Mr. M. H. Justice, of Rutherfordton, writes a card to the state press withdrawing his name as a candidate for Governor. The card is in excellent spirit, infinitely good taste and good humor, and will make a good impression upon the people of the state. This leaves in the field for the democratic nomination only Col. J. S. Cunningham and Mr. C. B. Aycock, so far as we know. The Telegram is wholly indifferent as to nominations where only good men are involved and no principle is at stake. It looks now as if Mr. Aycock is well in the lead.

The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Sun says that a fine bit of gossip is that Mrs. Dewey has confided to some of her friends that while she and the admiral are traveling about, they are sounding the popular feeling towards the latter to see "how the land lies," in case the admiral should decide to make an attempt at the presidency. It is said in the same connection that Mrs. Dewey does not deny to her intimate friends her ambition to become the first "lady in the land." Somebody who is real intimate with Mrs. Dewey ought to break to her the news that she is now about as near dead as she'll ever get.

TRINITY HISTORICAL PAPERS.
J. S. Bassett, Dr. Kilgo, Judge Conner and Others Have Papers.
Correspondence of the Telegram.
Trinity Park, March 12.—The Current Topics Club held its regular meeting Saturday evening. The subject discussed was the war in South Africa. S. A. Stewart gave the Boer side and J. M. Flowers the English side. Both sides of the question were well presented and the meeting was a very interesting one.
Series IV of the annual publication of historical papers of the Trinity College Historical Society is just out. It contains seven papers, as follows: North Carolina Methodism and Slavery, by J. S. Bassett; Court systems in North Carolina before the Revolution, by S. A. Stewart; William H. Braxton, by Dr. J. C. Kilgo; A Sane Citizenship, by Judge Henry G. Conner; The Congressional Career of Thomas L. Clingman, by J. S. Bassett; De Graffenried and the Swiss and Palatine Settlement Near New Bern, by L. L. Hendren; Nathaniel Macon in National Legislation, by W. K. Boy.
The publication makes a creditable pamphlet of 91 pages. It can be had of the Librarian of Trinity College, for 50 cents.
The Science Club will hold its regular meeting Saturday evening. The subjects discussed will be, "The Germ Theory of Disease," by Dr. J. T. Hamner; "The Transmission of Power," by L. L. Hendren, of the senior class; "The Action of Stray Currents," by J. J. Tyer.

The executive committee of the Alumni Association held a meeting Thursday afternoon for the transaction of some business for the Alumni. Several questions of interest were discussed.
President Kilgo is still in Texas lecturing on the Twentieth Century Educational Movement. He expects to return about the 20th of March.

DON'T WANT TO INTERFERE
SENATE WILL LIKELY KEEP HANDS OFF IN THE AFRICAN TROUBLE
Counting Eggs Rather Early in the Way of Democratic Retaliation.

Special to the Telegram.
Washington, March 12.—There being no apparent possibility of the consideration of the resolution offered by Senator Mason, of Illinois, expressing the sympathy of the United States with the Boers in their struggle against Great Britain, Senator Tillman offered a less sweeping resolution. The resolution of the South Carolina senator provides that the president of the United States be directed to offer to both governments the mediation of the United States government to bring the war in South Africa to a close. There is no chance for the passage of the resolution through the senate and there is no chance for the passage of the resolution of Senator Tillman. The administration would doubtless oppose the passage through either branch of congress of any resolution which might be construed as tending to interfere in the government of Great Britain. Both sides of the senate are divided on the question of expressing the sympathy of the United States with the Boers, the friends of the resolutions presented being led on the republican side by Senator Mason, of Illinois. The great part of the senate, however, are opposed to the passage of any resolutions of the kind. On the democratic side of the chamber it is said that among those who would oppose the Mason or Tillman resolutions are Senators Daniel and Martin of Virginia, McLaughlin, of South Carolina, Caffrey and McEnery of Louisiana, Sullivan, of Mississippi, and many others. It is doubtful if the resolutions presented are ever acted upon in any manner by the senate, although doubtless they will afford a text for many speeches in the senate during the present session of congress.

In retaliation for the unseating of Mr. Robins, of Alabama, it has been suggested that the northern democratic candidates for congress in the coming fall elections make as best possible fight against the republican nominees in the close districts of the north, and then if the house at the next election should be democratic that several republicans be unseated.

The consensus of opinion, however, on the democratic side of the house, as judged by the way the members speak that the democratic party can afford to rise above the petty partisanship displayed by the republican majority in the consideration of election cases, and that there will be no such retaliation.

To prove the spirit of the northern members, or at least some of them, Mr. Mahon, of Pennsylvania, in the house Friday asserted that he would like to see Taft's seat contested, so he could have the privilege of voting to unseat him. Mr. Taft, however, is not much troubled over this partisan threat.

Mr. J. H. Clewell, of Salem, North Carolina, is in the city, stopping at the National.

An Editor's Life Saved by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

During the early part of October, 1896, I contracted a bad cold, which settled on my lungs and was neglected until I feared that consumption had appeared in an incipient stage. I was constantly coughing and trying to get something which I could not find. I became alarmed and after giving the local doctor a trial bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the result was immediate improvement, and after I had used three bottles my lungs were restored to their healthy state. REV. S. MILTON FROST, D. D.

In connection with the visit of Bishop Galloway in the interest of the 20th century movement, we present a cut and this short sketch of a veteran preacher of the gospel, formerly of North Carolina, but now doing faithful and efficient work in Pennsylvania, and who is doing tireless work in behalf of the movement.

S. Milton Frost was born in Davie county, N. C., in the early part of the present century. Nearly sixty-one years ago he was converted near the historic Smith Grove camp ground in Davie county. He was at the altar all day, refusing to eat dinner or supper, and that night found him again there, but still he had not secured that peace "which passeth understanding." Sleep came not to his wearied eyes.

He arose long before day and going about a half a mile from the camp ground, knelt at the foot of a large white oak, and there, in solitude, he found pardon and peace.

He joined the North Carolina conference in 1846, leaving his father's house on July 25th, and commencing his work as an itinerant Methodist preacher in Wilkes county. For many years he served the people of his native state and he was greatly beloved. Fifty years after his conversion, as we learn from Rev. W. L. Grissom's History of Methodism in Davie county, he wrote a poem, a few lines of which we quote, entitled

The Origin of the Twentieth Century Movement.

The Twentieth Century movement was originated by Hon. Robert W. Perkins, London, England, a member of the British Parliament.

Mr. Perkins is a Methodist layman, the son of an ex president of the Wesleyan conference, is wealthy and a liberal helper in Methodist enterprises.

From the London Methodist Recorder some of the following main facts are gathered regarding the origin of the movement in British Methodism. Early in November, 1897, in the Committee Room at the Mission House, London, Mr. Perkins first named publicly the thought that God gave him. It was a meeting of ministers and laymen called to confer about what Wesleyan Methodism could do further in behalf of Mission work in the destitute suburbs of London.

The charges, adjoining those sections where population had increased so rapidly, were overwhelmed with Chapel buildings. "The Metropolitan Chapel Building Fund" was exhausted. The question arose: "What to be done?" "Let us raise a new fund." "Yes," said another, "we might raise £25,000 and make a new beginning."

Then Mr. Perkins arose, and stated that he had not intended to make known his plan so soon, but that the suggestion of a fund made it due for him to speak. He expressed his interest in the effort to evangelize New Outer London, but feared that the starting of this local fund would injure the success of a private dinner-table, some time previous at the Leeds Conference.

Briefly this scheme is "A million guineas from a million methods," or "A guinea (£5.25) per member," known as the "Million scheme."—Rev. S. Turlestone, in The Christian Advocate.

A LIFE AND DEATH FIGHT

Mr. W. A. Hines, of Manchester, Iowa, writing of his almost miraculous escape from death says: "Exposure after measles induced serious lung trouble, which ended in consumption. I had frequent hemorrhages and coughed night and day. All my doctors said I must soon die. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which completely cured me. I would not be without it even if cost $5 a bottle. Hundreds have used it on my recommendation and say it never fails to cure throat, chest and lung troubles." Regular size 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles free at C. E. Holton's drug store.

RHEUMATISM—CATARRH—DISEASES CURED BY B. B. B.
It is the deep-seated, obstinate cases of catarrh and rheumatism that B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) cures. It matters not what other treatments, doctors, sprays, liniments, medicated air blood purifiers, have failed to do. B. B. B. always promptly reaches the real cause and roots out and drives from the bones, joints, mucous membrane, and entire system the specific poison in the blood that causes rheumatism and catarrh. B. B. B. is the only remedy strong enough to do this and cure and so there can never be a return to the symptoms. Don't give up hope, but try B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) or 3 B's.

For sale by druggists and Howard Gardner, in Greensboro, at $1 per large bottle, or 8 large bottles (full treatment) $5. To prove our faith in B. B. B. we will send a trial bottle free to sufferers, so they may test the remedy at our expense. Address Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga.

Johnston's Sarsaparilla

A MOST WONDERFUL CURE.

A Grand Old Lady Gives Her Experience.
Mrs. Thankful Orilla Hurd lives in the beautiful village of Brighton, Livingston Co., Mich. This venerable and highly respected lady was born in the year 1812, the year of the great war, in Holborn, Washington Co., New York. She came to Michigan in 1840, the year of "Tippecanoe and Tyler too." All her faculties are excellently preserved, and possessing a very retentive memory, her mind is full of interesting reminiscences of her early life, of the early days of the State of Michigan and the interesting and remarkable people she has met, and the stirring events of which she was a witness. But nothing in her varied and manifold recollections are more marvelous and worthy of attention than are her experiences in the use of JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA. Mrs. Hurd inherited a tendency and predisposition to scrofula, that terribly destructive blood taint which has cursed and is cursing the lives of thousands and marking thousands more as victims of the death angel. Transmitted from generation to generation, it is found in nearly every family in one form or another. It may make its appearance in dreadful running sores, in unsightly swellings in the neck or groin, or in eruptions of varied forms. Attacking the mucous membrane, it may be known as catarrh in the head, or developing in the lungs it may be, and often is, the prime cause of consumption.

Speaking of her case, Mrs. Hurd says: "I was troubled for many years with a bad skin disease. My arms and limbs would break out in a mass of sores, discharging yellow matter. My neck began to swell and became very unsightly in appearance. My body was covered with scrofulous eruptions. My eyes were also greatly inflamed and weakened and they pained me very much. My blood was in a very bad condition and my head ached severely at frequent intervals, and I had no appetite. I had sores also in my ears. I was in a miserable condition. I had tried every remedy that had been recommended, and doctor after doctor had failed. One of the best physicians in the state told me I must die of scrofulous consumption, as internal abscesses were beginning to form. I at length was told of Dr. Johnston, of Detroit, and his famous Sarsaparilla. I tried a bottle, more as an experiment than anything else, as I had no faith in it, and greatly to my agreeable surprise, I began to grow better. You are sure I kept on taking it. I took a great many bottles. But I steadily improved until I became entirely well. All the sores healed up, all the bad symptoms disappeared. I gained perfect health, and I have never been troubled with scrofula since. Of course an old lady of 88 years is not a young woman, but I have had remarkably good health since then, and I firmly believe that JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA is the greatest blood purifier and the best medicine in the world, both for and cures scrofula and as a spring medicine." This remarkably interesting old lady did not look to be more than sixty, and she repeated several times, "I believe my life was saved by JOHNSTON'S SARSAPARILLA."

Their Most Prosperous Year.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Guilford Lumber Company was held this afternoon at 3:30 in the reading rooms of the Southern Loan and Trust Company's building. Another fiscal year has just been completed, the most prosperous one in the history of the concern.

The old officers were re-elected: C. A. Reynolds, president; W. D. Mendenhall, secretary and treasurer. Directors: E. P. Wharton, O. F. Pearce, A. L. Rankin, Dr. J. E. Logan, R. M. Sloan, M. F. Kersey, C. A. Reynolds, W. D. Mendenhall and J. W. Scott.

An Interesting Meeting.

The Euterpe Club held a most pleasant meeting at the home of Mrs. Hildersheimer and Miss Laura Brockmann Saturday afternoon.

The subject was "German Composers of Today," and was made most interesting by Mrs. Hildersheimer, who told much of the life of Bruno Oskar Kleis, of the National Conservatory of New York.

His father was her teacher and his mother her classmate. In recognition of their friendship Mr. Kleis had sent her a number of his compositions, two of which were rendered by members of the club. His Easter song by Mrs. Hagan with violin obligato by Miss Elsie Weatherly was enthusiastically received, while his Bohemian Cradle Song as sung by Miss Friend was no less beautiful.

Wanted—20 men—Who wear No. 10 shoes. We are overstocked with this size in men's winter-weight leather lined shoes, both black and tan, and will offer special inducements to customers who wear this size.

Thacker & Brockmann.

Have you seen the new American matting, made of western prairie grass and heavy cotton twist? Thacker & Brockmann have just received a shipment of this new floor covering, and also a fresh supply of China and Japanese matting.

Spain's Greatest Need.

Mr. R. P. Oliva, of Barcelona, Spain, spends his winters at Alton, S. C. Weak nerves had caused severe pains in the back of his head. On using Electric Blitters, America's greatest blood and nerve remedy, all pain soon left him. He says this grand medicine is what his country needs. All America knows that it cures liver and kidney trouble, purifies the blood, tones up the stomach, strengthens the nerves, puts vim, vigor and new life into every muscle, nerve and organ of the body. If weak, tired or ailing you need it. Every bottle guaranteed, only 50c. Sold by C.E. Holton, druggist.

We still have about fifty pairs of slightly shop-worn ladies' shoes to be closed out at and below cost.

Next to the Consumer

is where we stand in the lumber business. At the kicking post, as it were, in regard to prices.

First comes the owner of the timber. He just woke up to the value of it and wants double last year's prices. Then the sawmill. He has n't been making a fortune and thinks now he should share a little in the general prosperity.

They say to us: "We must have so much for our trees and work." After a while it is "up to you." Don't kick. You don't suppose we have nerve enough to put up prices unless they had first been put up on us. No, indeed. But prices are NOT high. They have been low and are just now getting reasonable. Your children will be glad to build at double the price is now costs you. It is a trite, but true saying, if you want to build, "Now is the time."

And ours is the place to get the stuff.
